

Healthcare Benefit Trends & Practices – Regional and Local Surveys Say.....

As the prospect for national healthcare reform takes a decided turn, learn how plan sponsors are balancing the pressures of escalating healthcare costs with the vital need to maintain respectable employee benefits. As employers struggle to sponsor benefit plans, significant cost shifting to employees has become and remains a core driver of plan design. In this session, we will discuss regional and local employee benefit survey data that benchmarks the trends and benefit practices surrounding consumer driven health plans, medical & prescription drug benefits, dental and vision benefits, life and disability benefits and worksite wellness programs. Participants will learn how these benefit plans have changed over the years and what trends and practices are driving future employee benefit packages. This is a must attend session for anyone responsible for guiding the direction of employer sponsored benefit plans.
