

JONATHAN D. CRAMER, F.S.A. Earns Designation – Fellow of the Society of Actuaries

Conrad Siegel Actuaries recently announced that Jonathan D. Cramer, F.S.A., has earned the designation as a Fellow of the Society of Actuaries. This designation is earned through a combination of educational achievement, practical experience, and formal qualification awarded by the Society of Actuaries. "As a result of the ever expanding need to provide independent, objective employee benefits consulting advice," said Robert J. Dolan, President & CEO of Conrad Siegel Actuaries, "we are pleased to announce that another of our consulting actuaries has been awarded the designation of Fellow of the Society of Actuaries."

Jon joined Conrad Siegel Actuaries in 1997. He is a graduate of Elizabethtown College with a B.S. degree in mathematics, cum laude. In addition to being a Fellow of the Society of Actuaries, Jon is also a Member of the American Academy of Actuaries and an Enrolled Actuary under ERISA.

In his position, Jon works with a broad range of clients including corporations, tax-exempt organizations and municipalities. His expertise includes actuarial consulting for defined benefit pension plans and defined contribution retirement plans. He is a specialist in utilizing new comparability defined contribution allocation formulas and in the design and administration of Employee Stock Ownership Plans (ESOPs). Jon also provides actuarial calculations and expert testimony in cases of marital dissolution and negligence cases.

Conrad Siegel Actuaries is one of the nation's largest actuarial firms owned by the professionals who work directly with their clients. The firm offers a comprehensive array of services for defined benefit retirement plans, defined contribution retirement plans, health and welfare consulting, and investment advisory services through Conrad Siegel Investment Advisors, Inc., an SEC registered investment advisory firm.
